Applications now open:

Our two-week CPG Academy 2022 on German Law and the Constitutional System in German is now open for application!

Join us and a diverse group of participants from around the world as we curated a comprehensive schedule cutting-edge knowledge, comprised of pre-recorded lectures, carefully selected readings, debates, especially designed case-studies and structured discussions, brought to you by leading academics and practitioners.

Germany - one of the central European powers – is known for a public law of remarkable quality and differentiation that has inspired many country's all around the world. To approach this interesting legal order, the academy's agenda will cover:

- The German Constitution's foundation & fundamentals,
- The Constitutional Court,
- Basic rights, including a small moot court,
- Representative democracy & local self-governance,
- Various manifestations of the rule of law,
- Legal methodology, court organization & case management
- The European perspective
- Fundamentals of administrative law and procedure
- Selected future prospects and challenges of the German constitutional state

Be part of it!

We now invite application from committed prospective participants, with the necessary proficiency in English, and a genuine interest or professional background.

In order to maintain high teaching standards and ensure genuine engagement and interaction, each Academy has only 12-20 spaces. This spring, we are able to offer the courses free of charge!

Applications should include an informative curriculum vitae (CV)/resumé; a portrait photo (jpeg); a brief statement of approximately 250 words outlining your reasons for wishing to attend the academy and what you believe your contribution will be.

If you are uncertain about whether the Academies are suitable for your needs or background, please contact the organizer for advice: events@cpg-online.de.
